

When I Fall

Anne Murray

Yes it's true I have a gift of sometimes acting special
Wearing my facade for all to see
Truth I guess is I'm afraid, of being on the level
Showing what I really think of me

It's hard for me to understand how you could ever love me
Sometimes I don't like myself at all
I don't see how I'm worthy of you thinking so much of me
But you're always here to hold me when I fall
You're always here to wipe away my tears
You're always here to hold me when I fall

The kind of love you've shown me is deserving of much better
Than anything I've given in return
The promises you made to me, you've kept them to the letter
Faith in you is one thing I have learned

It's hard for me to understand how you could ever love me
Sometimes I don't like myself at all
I don't see how I'm worthy of you thinking so much of me
But you're always here to hold me when I fall
You're always here, to wipe away my tears
You're always here to hold me when I fall
You're always here, to wipe away my tears
You're always here to hold me when I fall