

Sinner's Prayer

Anne Wilson

Dear Jesus

It's been a minute since I called, guess You already know the reasons

I've got a list a mile long of gone-

wrongs going off the deep end

I've been slipping up sideways

Running off the rails like a runaway freight train

All I know is my way has left me crying in the driveway

I can't do this on my own, God knows how much I've tried

I'm on my knees, just hoping these words make it past the sky

Do You hear me, do You know me?

Can broken still be holy?

I'm trying to get a message to the man upstairs

Every saint started with a sinner's prayer

Every saint started with a sinner's prayer

I'm sorry

Two words You ain't heard that much out of me these days

You forgive and I forget how beautiful it is, us talking like this

Talking like this

Oh, I miss us talking like this

I can't do this on my own, God knows how much I've tried

I'm on my knees, just hoping these words make it past the sky

Do You hear me, do You know me?

Can broken still be holy?

I'm trying to get a message to the man upstairs

Every saint started with a sinner's prayer

I can't do this on my own, God knows how much I've tried

I'm on my knees, just hoping these words make it past the sky

Do You hear me, do You know me?

Can broken still be holy?

I'm trying to get a message to the man upstairs

Every saint started with a sinner's prayer

Every saint started with a sinner's prayer

Dear Jesus

I'm glad You haven't left and I didn't waste my breath

I know that You know I meant every word single I said

Amen
