

The End

Anneke van Giersbergen

He said I have all day
We dove into this crazy world where we could hide and play
He said it's all okay
But driving in his beat-up car I thought I heard him say

I loved you forever
At least for a while
I never intended to end it
Our lives got in the way
I realize

We can't do this, we're way off track
I'm asking you to go back
Your heart is safe, it's in my hands
But for now this is the end

I said follow the light
This heartache only makes you sad
Just leave it all behind
The answers are in sight
But staring at the deep blue sky
I'm sure he heard me say

I loved you forever
At least for a while
I never intended to end it
Our lives got in the way

We'll go on separate trails
Further every day
Every mile we venture down the road
But every step we take
Every turn we make
My heart will wander off into your shadow

We can't do this, we're way off track
I'm asking you to go back
Your heart is safe, it's in my hands

This is the end
