A Sarcastic Hello

Anni B Sweet

I wonder why the mixture of two compounds must have something in common so they can work out. I can't get in my head why answers can't be questions or questions could be answers to my insane head. I get desesperate when I wake up in the morning And I See a big neon that says:

Work it out! And I said good morning hello hello hello Good morning! Hello hello hello!

I love to see the sunset while I'm sitting in my couch And I like to see people walk by Everything seems to be so calm and so right Until turn on the news and guess what? A hundred people dying or a heavy rain has come and took away their home

Work it out!...

Hello! hello oh! hello oah! hello oh!