

Remember Today

Anni B Sweet

I see an old woman dancing on a window sill and singing songs that I don't know she's telling all this stories about an old man that she used to love, but he won't ever know

Today I want to hurt myself and see how close I was to loving you today I want to hurt myself and remember how it felt

Red silk nighgown for a special scene in a make-believe film only for two she's teeling all this stories about an old man that she used to love, but he won't ever know

Today I want to hurt myself and see how close I was to loving you today I want to hurt myself and remember how it felt loving you

I see an old man singing blues and rock 'n roll! I see an old man singing blues and sixties songs! Loving you!