

Crawling

Annika Rose

Blue skies and summer romance
High school and may I have this dance?
Some things you just don't really plan

Heart break and someone's funeral
Good days you can't believe you had
Some things you'll just never get back

Go so far
To get somewhere
But somewhere isn't always the end

You might wake up one day living in a fortress
When it's all you know you don't wanna outgrow it
And the world's so big but you feel so small
Cause you're all grown up but you're still crawling

Whitelies in lola's bedroom
Flashlights and kissing in the park
Some lips taste better in the dark

Cut ties so I don't miss you
Start fights and tear the seams apart
I don't wanna need u when you're far

Years go by
But time
Stands still
In some ways you can't know and u never will

You might wake up one day living in a fortress
When it's all you know you don't wanna outgrow it
And the worlds so big but you feel so small
All grown up but you're still crawling

Words like water worth their weight in gold
Can't take nothing with u when you go
All you have is all you'll ever know

Watch my life play over in reverse
Pinky promises and every first love and touch and the whole universe

You might wake up one day living in the moment
Cause it's all you have but you still can't hold it
The worlds so big but we're all so small
All grown up but you're still crawling