

Dad

Annika Rose

The pizza's still warm in the fridge
From the night before the flight that you almost missed
And the living room feels a little cold
Without all your luggage and shoes on the floor
Don't care where you're going just know that I notice
The change in the air when you're leaving whole
No voice ringing through the wall when you're on a business call
No one to walk with me or sit down for coffee

I know life goes on
But I don't wanna go on not without you here
'Cause I don't feel so strong
You were the only thing keeping me on both my feet
Stop, don't grab your keys
Please, please don't leave

How can I get in my car
Without all your passenger seat air guitar
There'll be no one to drive me back home
From the doctor who always sticks things down my throat
Swear this year was a shit show, you played a big role
Keeping the life in it so I didn't feel alone
Childhood storytelling never got overwhelming
Sharing all your dreams with me

Oh, I know life goes on
But I don't wanna go on not without you here
'Cause I don't feel so strong
You were the only thing keeping me on both my feet
Stop, don't grab your keys
Please, please don't leave

How could you keep all the lights on?
You know that I can't turn 'em off
I guess that I'm just gonna have to keep paying
The bill to pretend you're not gone

How could you keep all the lights on?
You know that I can't turn 'em off
I guess that I'm just gonna have to keep paying
The bill to pretend you're not gone

How could you keep all the lights on?
You know that I can't turn 'em off
I guess that I'm just gonna have to keep paying
The bill to pretend you're not gone

How could you keep all the lights on?