

Parallel Universe

Annisokay

I'm the one that's been waiting
Did our time fly past? Did I miss my chance?
I'm the one that's been waiting
You make me depressed for a girl like you

But I can't quite find the time
I will love you, that might multiply
I can't quite get enough
I've followed it down and down my spine

What if I could find a parallel universe?
Not even time would find us
And for once you'd see what you mean to me
I can wait for you in a parallel universe
Even the sun revolves around us
And for once you'd see what you mean to me

And for once we will dance forever
And for once you'd see what you mean to me

Why am I doing this to you
When it makes no sense and it takes no slaves?
Why am I doing this to you
When I'm finding out how to lose myself?

But I can't quite find the time
I will love you, that might multiply
I can't quite get enough
I've followed it down and down my spine

What if I could find a parallel universe?
Not even time would find us
And for once you'd see what you mean to me
I can wait for you in a parallel universe
Even the sun revolves around us
And for once you'd see what you mean to me

Just you and me in a parallel universe
Just you and me in a parallel universe
As I wait for you
Where all time can hold no power
I have to let you go
Where the sun revolves around you

And if I can't find a parallel universe
Where there's no such thing as time
Then you would never see what you mean to me
What if I can't find a parallel universe?
Where the sun revolves around us
Then you'd never see what you mean to me
