

Standing Still

Annisokay

The sun goes down
As the day surrenders to the night
The last few minutes with you
Before I lose my mind
And then it just flew away
Piece by piece and cell by cell
Fading like fairytales
We don't need Heaven, just no hell

I'm moving slowly
I might be heading in the wrong direction
I might be throwing
All these stones at my own reflection

Am I standing still
Or is the rest of the world (the world) flying by
Am I standing still
Why do things never happen
How I think they, think they will

Becoming strangers
In the blink of an eye
No redemption
No more words to make things right
Everything has gone astray
And falling into nothing piece by piece
Any sacrifice we made
Cannot change our bitter fate

We move slowly
We advance into alienation
It seems were holding
The corpse of our own creation

Am I standing still
Or is the rest of the world (the world) flying by
Am I standing still
Why do things never happen
How I think they, think they will

Don't look back
Don't look down
We fall together
With no regrets now
Don't look back
Don't look down
We jump together
We fall together

Am I standing still
Or is the rest of the world (the world) flying by (flying by)
Am I standing still (standing still)
Why do things never happen
How I think they, think they will
