

Bitter

Another Day Dawns

It's in my head but there's no memory
You're already dead and gone
In my head the way you left me
I guess this is moving on

And I'm starting to embrace it
In my heart we're flesh and blood
Every part of me is breaking
I can still hold a grudge

You think I forget this?
You never existed

Separation is self-defense
Stronger now without your influence
On my own is all I know
The bridge has burned; as above, so below

It's off my chest with mixed emotions
All the rest you left behind
Another test to prove devotion
You fail it every time

You think I forget this?
You never existed

Separation is self-defense
Stronger now without your influence
On my own is all I know
The bridge has burned; as above, so below

Both dead inside, both point the blame
But you and I are not the same
Both lost the fight, still throwing stones
You're holding on, I'm letting go

The bridge has burned; as above, so below

Separation is self-defense
Stronger now without your influence
On my own is all I know
The bridge has burned; as above, so below

You think I forget this?
You never existed