

Everything You Are Will Be Lost

Anouk

What happened?
When did you get so unhappy?
Why don't you get the old out
And replace them with the new
Now go and find your blue

Yeah, keep on driving
To let your mind astray
No city walls under gray skies
Drive to more like an open space

'Cause everything you are will be lost
You will never outshine the sky's own blue
There's nothing more than losing your all
One day they will stop thinking about you
'Cause everything will be lost

You wanted magic
Two lovers in the sky
The grass so tall
It's reaching the clouds
Where you both whisper
To rivers of time

But everything you are will be lost
You will never outshine the sky's own blue
There's nothing more than losing your all
One day they will stop thinking about you
Everything will be lost

Your heart and soul
Always in for new highs
Wishing you could stay
Where weed grows wild

Everything you are will be lost someday
Everything you are will be lost someday
Everything you are will be lost someday
Everything you are will be lost
Everything, everything, everything will be lost
Everything, everything
