

Going For The Kill

Anouk

She's been in it for some years
And all the injuries she's covered up with make up
Covered up her bruises
On a face with hidden tears
And now she's going for the kill

So she filed for divorce
After seven years of marriage
And we all knew it was rumored to be a mess
It was a dumpster fire
Now she's going for the kill
She's going for the kill

She forced him out the house in one hour
And gathered his belongings while he waited
Outed herself on social media
And this is what she had to say
To be honest, I have never loved you anyway

Then the both of them agreed
To split things evenly, except for spousal support
For sure she will succeed
And try to make him suffer
'Cause she's going for the kill
She's going for the kill

And as he walked away with his belongings
She said, I hope one day you'll change your life
'Cause I am not your fragile ego or your rage and hate
And to be honest, I have never loved you anyway

Killer instincts kicking in Wanting revenge on him
It's running up and down in her mind

Everything he put her through
She wants him to feel it too
So she can move on with her life

'Cause she's been in it for some years
All the injuries she's covered up with make up
Covered up her bruises
On a face with hidden tears
And now she's going for the kill
She's going for the kill