I heard our old song just the other day
On a playlist I forgot you made
And I thought of your smile
And just sat for a while
As I let the radio play

And I heard you broke down just the other day
Something about the world made you mad
And I laughed with my friends
'Cause I like to pretend
That I don't feel bad

This year was supposed to be perfect
This year was supposed to be perfect
This year was supposed to be perfect
And you killed it

I talked to your sister the other day
'Cause I promised I'd still keep in touch
And she told me she missed me
And said that you're busy
And I shouldn't have asked her that much

'Cause I went through our texts just the other day
It was something I shouldn't have done
'Cause I went back in time
And it fucked with my mind
And I suddenly realized you're gone

This year was supposed to be perfect
This year was supposed to be perfect
This year was supposed to be perfect
And you killed it

This year was supposed to be perfect
This year was supposed to be perfect
This year was supposed to be perfect
And you killed it
