

Maybe This Will Be the One

Anthony Green

Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one

When the physical resides
In memory that's invincible
With multi-camera eyes

Will it ever be enough?
Will it ever be enough?
Will it ever be enough?
Will it ever be enough?

I'm the youngest of the kids
Empty closet
There's a suit coat and a jacket, and I know it doesn't fit
My dad gave it to my brother, but I don't give a shit
There's a suit coat and a jacket that I know he never wore
I could really use one...

We might as well give up
Our love resentments
I just want to know
Will this sleep be the last?

Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one

It's the loneliest at night
In moment that's forgettable
But I cherished every eye

It was eating me alive
It was eating me alive
It was eating me alive

I'm the smallest of the kids
In the composite
There's an overwhelming label that someone put on my back
And a suitcase from a year ago I've still yet to unpack
In the last moments I saw you, you were begging me to stay
Now I wish I would've...

I tried my best to fight those overwhelming voices in my head
Will this time be the last divided reactions of our Memories and oxytocin thrill
Would you still—
Still love me the same?

Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one

Would you still be in love?

Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
Maybe this will be the one
