

You Have to Believe It Will Happen

Anthony Green

Love will come again when you need it most
Nothing happens when you expect it to
When you're out of luck, know
Everything you want, you have
Love will come again when you need it most

If you can't make a path and follow it 'till nothing's left
It wasn't in the notes you kept
We didn't even realize it was dead
We've been at battle for too long

Love will come again when you need it most
Nothing happens when you expect it to
When you're out of luck, know
Everything you want, you have
Love will come again when you need it most

When stuck awake at night and every single pen won't write
He said that he would meet you there
With someone else's fingers in his hair
You never thought that it would end like this

Love will come again when you need it most
Nothing happens when you expect it to
When you're out of luck, know
Everything you want, you have
Love will come again when you need it most

You said it wasn't in the notes you kept
We didn't even realize it was dead

He swears he's coming back to you
Then say that he's in love with someone new
You've been at battle for too long