

A Thousand Funerals

Anthony Russo

There's a bright side to the darkness
It's not a graveyard
It's a garden
Where timeless lovers watched their colors fade into the gray
So if the flame we had grows cold
No I won't let go

But I can't save us
But I'll keep waiting
I'll find the heart inside your ghost
After a thousand funerals I'm still living for you

Red wine sitting from the last time you wanted company
Nice try but those aren't the same eyes standing in front of me
We said goodbye so many time but never walked away
So if the fire we had grows cold
No I won't let go

But I can't save us
But I'll keep waiting
I'll find the heart inside your ghost
After a thousand funerals I'm still living for you

I'll find the heart inside your ghost
And I'll keep waiting
I'll find the heart inside your ghost
After a thousand funerals I'm still living for you