

Typical

Anthony Russo

Ooh, I know
I'd trade it for you
I'm waitin' for you, ah
Know we were bound
To wonder positions
I just don't get you

I'm discovering
We were perfect on the surface
Broken underneath, yeah-yeah
You know love can be
Like a puzzle, no a puzzle
Doesn't come complete
But it wants to be

Tell me what's on your mind
I don't wanna wait till mornin'
You do this all the time
Forgot what's important
Baby, I'm not that guy
Hate to see you cry, why
You're so typical
I'm so difficult

There's no more room for your ego inside
Thought we said it all
But you wanna talk
So let's do it right
You got your reasons, yeah, and I got mine
But what can we leave those behind?

We're so dumb
Swear we just fight for fun
But everybody wanna be right, I know
Never should've said that one
But, baby, don't step on my pride

You know I need ya, need ya, need ya
By my side

Tell me what's on your mind
I don't wanna wait till mornin'
You do this all the time
Forgot what's important
Baby, I'm not that guy
Hate to see you cry, why
You're so typical
I'm so difficult

(You're so typical
I'm so difficult
You're so typical
I'm so difficult)
