

Dead End

Antifreeze

[Originally by Faster Driveshaft]

I once hit a dead end, between me and all of my friends
I really don't know what happened but I sure would like to know
I guess things just weren't going right, not keeping with the flow
Beyond my comprehension, the hell if i know

Round and round i go, where it stops, I wish I knew
My life is fading so fast, and my car is running out of gas
Where did all the time go, i just don't know
Yes you ought to tell me why I am at a dead end

You told me how easy it's been, just to play me like a fool
All my friends are leaving me, now you tell me you are too?
I've just been so rejected, now i am feeling so neglected
I'll just walk the streets tonight, try to find another paradise