

Do You Remember

Antifreeze

Every time I get ahead
It always costs a friend
Being in a band is fun and stay forever young

You can't have the things you need
Like love, friendship and peace
Do you remember the days when we would hang out every day?

Then I was fine
but now, only sometimes

I don't know you anymore
We don't click the way we did It's like the years have shrunk in Do you remember when you could say something and know what I'd say back?
Do you remember that?

Everyone is growing up
I guess I'm out of luck
It will take some time to learn
It's me who won't grow up

Every time I come home it's not the same
One more friend is getting married
Do you remember the days
when we hung out everyday?
