

Tainted Truth

ANYA

You're saying all the things that I wanna hear
But the truth is not a gift that we give
Your words are honey, they drip in my ear
But the truth is not a gift that we give

And now the curtains have dropped
You'll stand before me and you'll know
I know you better than that
Better than that

Baby, you're in plain sight, I see you bright as day
And every single tainted truth is written on your face
So tell me all your lies, go ahead, try
'Cause I only see you clearer when you hide

Are you a story on a page or an actor on a stage?
They bought that stuff really, they don't see you clearly
Is it real or make believe? Is it something in between?
I can tell it's not sunny, don't lie to me, honey

And now the curtains have dropped
You'll stand before me and you'll know
I know you better than that
Better than that

Baby, you're in plain sight, I see you bright as day
And every single tainted truth is written on your face
So tell me all your lies, go ahead, try
'Cause I only see you clearer when you hide
So I don't mind when you lie
I only see you clearer when you hide

The truth is not a gift that we give
The truth is not a gift that we give

And when curtains have dropped
You'll stand before me and you'll know
I know you better than that
Better than that, yeah

Baby, you're in plain sight, I see you bright as day
And every single tainted truth is written on your face
So tell me all your lies, go ahead, try
'Cause I only see you clearer when you hide
So I don't mind when you lie
I only see you clearer when you hide
So I don't mind when you lie
