Death

Apartment 26

I love the sound of your tears I can't listen anymore Are you choking on your words? He never got on his knee If one little push is all it took Maybe one would help to realize You're the edge on which I live I stare but I see nothing You're not here to guide me Can't break the flow - one more push

Give it to me You should know that I'll take more from you Give it to me You should hope that I will not cut you out

Take one last look as me and tell me if I change Or just give in to temptations around me Maybe when I come back I'll be known a little more But then I could be known less Misconceptions made me

Give it to me You should know that I'll take more from you Give it to me You should hope that I will not cut you out

Sounds are not so clear Distortion making clearer (Hounded/Handed) out kisses Slow it down, but make it faster Finish up the beinning Shine the light on my shadow Relaxation techniques Pointing at an arrow Reach out your arms to be held Stretch out your mouth to be loved Can't break the flow - one more push

[x3] Give it to me You should know that I'll take more from you Give it to me You should hope that I will not cut you out
