Do you remember when you were so young and small?
Do you remember you and me there?
We were always together and how they were jealous of us
Do you remember those friends?
You held my small hand and protected me
Always smiling only at me
Baby, we didn't know back then
We were probably pretending
We were too young

You came to me, into my heart
As something more than a friend
Next to you, I hid my heart
Hiding, hiding
Behind the friend label

Do you sometimes think of those days
Like I do? Do you remember
The nice breeze, the warm sunlight that shone on us?
Do you remember the sun?

We resembled each other so much

And you were my precious friend
Baby, that's what I believed
But you came to me
And it was so strange

You came to me, into my heart
As something more than a friend
Next to you, I hid my heart
Hiding, hiding
Behind the friend label

Honestly, I was afraid
I wasn't used to my trembling heart when I saw you
Actually, I resented you for acting like everything was normal
Why didn't you know my heart?

Feel me, feel me, tell me, tell me
Love me, love me (though it's too late)
Feel me, feel me, tell me, tell me
Love me, love me (though it's too late)

You came to me, into my heart
As something more than a friend
Next to you, I hid my heart
Next, next
Behind the friend label
