

Oooh-oooh-oooh-oooh, oooh-oooh-oooh-oooh
Oooh-oooh-oooh-oooh, oooh-oooh-oooh-oooh

I wanna wrap Your love around my neck
'Cause I don't think my heart is big enough to hold it
I hear Your words ringing in my head
It's been inside my mind, somehow I've always known it

I wanna fight for love, even if it makes me bleed
I wanna breathe that last breath of the goodness left in me
Falling from above, a wounded heart in need
You've broken through the darkness in my midst so I could see

What if I told You, You're my gravity
What if I told You, You're my chemistry
And now that I know You, You're the air I breathe
Now that I know what love was always meant to be
Even if my bones, they break
Nothing can separate
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)
Even if my bones, they break
You're still a part of me
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)

I wanna wrap Your love around my hands
And feel the rhythm of Your heartbeat as I hold it
Everywhere I look, it's like You're there
I see an image of the two of us unfolding

You came in like a dove, You woke me from my sleep
You helped me to discover a new world inside of me

What if I told You, You're my gravity
What if I told You, You're my chemistry
And now that I know You, You're the air I breathe
Now that I know what love was always meant to be
Even if my bones, they break
Nothing can separate
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)
Even if my bones, they break
You're still a part of me
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)

Even if my bones, they break
You're still a part of me
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)

What if I told You, You're my gravity
What if I told You, You're my chemistry
And now that I know You, You're the air I breathe
Now that I know what love was always meant to be
Even if my bones, they break
Nothing can separate
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)
Even if my bones, they break
You're still a part of me
You're in my DNA (You're in my DNA)
