

Man That I Used To Know

Apollo LTD

Scraping pennies and broken dollars to follow your heart, yeah
What does it matter if it's only gonna tear mine apart? Ah
I can only try to define my peace of mind
But does that part of me exist?
So look into these eyes, mirrors don't lie
I can't hide what's become of me in this

In the mirror all I see is a man that I used to know, I used to know
All I see is a man that I used to know, I used to know
(Now he's gone forever, now he's gone forever)

Made the decision to make you my new religion for life, yeah
A thousand reasons why I'm on my knees and pleading
And these visions keep me up at night
This self-inflicted misery comes over me
I can't seem to break away, yeah
Look into these eyes, mirrors don't lie
I can't hide, there's nothing left for me to see

In the mirror all I see is a man that I used to know, I used to
know
All I see is a man that I used to know, I used to know
(Now he's gone forever, now he's gone forever)

In the mirror all I see is a man that I used to know, used to k now
All I see is a man that I used to know, I used to know
(Now he's gone forever, now he's gone forever)