

Have you ever felt like you just couldn't be yourself
Like it'd be easier if you were someone else
Is there a voice inside your mind
That reminds you all the time
The ways you're broken
Has it left you hopeless?

It can be a hard, hard thing just being alive
It can be a dark, dark thing when you're trying to hide

Every story, every scar
You are loved the way you are
There's nothing you need to prove
'Cause heaven knows your name
There's a reason you were made
Fearfully and wonderfully you, you, you

Has anybody told you that you'd never be enough
Has anybody told you that you'd never measure up
Are you just trying to escape?
Trying to run from all the pain
Of being human?
Can you make it through it?

Every story, every scar
You are loved the way you are
There's nothing you need to prove
'Cause heaven knows your name
There's a reason you were made
Fearfully and wonderfully you, you, you
Fearfully and wonderfully you, you, you

Don't give up
Don't give up
He's not giving up on you
Not giving up on you

Don't give up
Don't give up
He's not giving up on you
Not giving up on you

It can be a hard, hard thing just being alive
It can be a dark, dark thing when you're trying to hide

Every story, every scar
You are loved the way you are
There's nothing you need to prove
'Cause heaven knows your name
There's a reason you were made
Fearfully and wonderfully you, you, you
Fearfully and wonderfully you

Don't give up
Don't give up
He's not giving up on you
Not giving up on you
