

Holloway Or Anywhere

Apologies, I Have None

If this whole thing should fall apart you know I'll still be here

And the city may sleep sound tonight but our hearts are pounding loud and clear

Yearning for that feeling to know that we're not standing down no we're not kneeling

Just you and I in this cold bitter air I can't think of anything more sincere

This could be any day, this could be anywhere
I wish it was any day, I wish we were anywhere but here

And I can feel it all, heavy, simplicity slipping away
And they bury me, one by one the problems that we keep letting in again
We danced with them until the sound of laughter ended

This could be any day, this could be anywhere
I wish it was any day, I wish we were anywhere but here.
