

Knock The Light Out

Aranda

Every day,
I feel ashamed,
hours and hours of wasting away.

Some men were caged,
and now we can play.
The curves of your body move in to me.

I can't stop looking your way,
the cold in your eyes,
got me hypnotised.
I know a game we could play.

I've been watching you,
I should have known myself,
ain't nobody else,
that moves,
like the way you do.
And I can see just what you're thinking,
lets start leaning.
And knock the lights out!

Emotions are deep,
you crash in to me.
Temperature rising,
But you won't get me.

You feel ashamed,
I'll slip away.
Your lips hold a secret that I'll never say.

I can't stop looking your way,
the cold in your eyes,
got me hypnotised.
I know a game we could play.

I've been watching you,
I should have known myself,
ain't nobody else,
that moves,
like the way you do.
And I can see just what you're thinking,
lets start leaning.
And knock the lights out!

I've been watching you,
I should have known myself,
ain't nobody else,
that moves,
like the way you do.
And I can see just what you're thinking,
lets start leaning.
And knock the lights out!

Knock the lights out!
Knock the lights out!
