

One More Lie

Aranda

Did you get the message
You get the message
Did you get the message
You get the message
Did you get the message
You get the message
Did you get the message
You get the message

The house is quiet and you haven't called again
Are we still together?
You tell me you've been out all night with your friends
Baby I know better

It's getting hard for you to hide behind these lies
I see the game that you're running
And now you can't even look me in the eyes
You should have seen this coming

And I'll be gone tomorrow
Did you get that message yet?

One more lie, I don't believe
And now I'm leaving you lonely again
And when you wake from your broken dream
I hope the pain in your world never ends
One more lie

Who's to say you are the only one to blame?
I should've paid more attention
I guess I never realized who you became
And it's too late to erase it

And I'll be gone tomorrow
Oh, did you get that message yet?

One more lie, I don't believe
And now I'm leaving you lonely again
And when you wake from your broken dream
I hope the pain in your world never ends
One more lie
One more lie

Oh, one more lie, I don't believe
And now I'm leaving you lonely again
And when you wake from your broken dream
I hope the pain in your world never ends

With one more lie, I don't believe
And now I'm leaving you lonely again
And when you wake from your broken dream
I hope the pain in your world never ends
With one more lie
One more lie
One more lie
One more lie

Did you get the message
You get the message
Did you get the message
You get the message