Arash Buana

Crowded places gives me
All these memories I don't need
Even I can't tell that I might be insane
And every time I try to see it different
It stays the same
Guess I'm the rain in every sunny day

Whining about how I can't help
But walk myself right out
If she didn't care then why did they found out
And every time I try to see it different
It stays the same
So why don't you say it too?

I promised myself
That I will change
All that I ask is for us to be friends
It won't be the same
As how we loved
We could learn if we stayed
Friends like back in May

All these missing pieces
I can't seem to take my steps
Every road I take
The more I know I break
All I'm trying to say
Is that I really wish I can
So why don't you say it too
That I love you

I promised myself
That I will change
All that I ask is for us to be friends
It won't be the same
As how we loved
We could learn if we stayed
Friends like back in May

All of these talkings
I have been holding
I just can't resist it in no more

I promised myself
That I will change
All that I ask is for us to be friends
It won't be the same
As how we loved
We could learn if we stayed
Friends like back in May

Friends like back in May
Friends like back in May
