Love, love for you

Several years since we met it seemed like a coincidence, didn't it?
And when we realized, it'd been 10 years
Balloons soaring up to the sky
A swaying ship with the skinny five of us on board
"Let's just laugh..." "our dreams will definitely come true"
Saying things like that to persuade ourselves in the past and now we still remember it in our hearts (yeah)

It felt like there were days when we only felt impatience, anxiety, and irritation
But because you all were there and because your smiles were warm
We were able to keep walking, lined up in a row holding hands
Even though we've passed this time together, it still kinda makes us shy

We gathered the wind inside of ourselves, along with an unbearable sadness
Because you were there, we were able to smile

Playing our innocent out-of-tune songs, we've been to see many worlds
Before we knew it, we realized that that had become who we are now

Crying for real, laughing for real
(There really isn't anything else for us to give but many words of love)
Worrying for real, truly living
(Again, sending out this big love in a song)
That's why we have now, because you shine your light on our hearts

Crying for real, laughing for real
(There really isn't anything else for us to give but many words of love)
Worrying for real, truly living
(Again, sending out this big love in a song)
That's why we have now, because you shine your light on our hearts

"Step by step," if there isn't any such thing as a shortcut
Then we have no choice but to go on the path we believe in
When you feel like you want to cry, then let's meet here again
The same 5 guys as always will send you their love (yeah)
Wishing together for a future together with you (yeah)
Jump high over the mountains in front of you with the wind we send you
We'll dye everything around in our colors (yeah)

All alone, looking up at the sky can you see it too?
If you can, sing to the sky... that's right, with all your might

Crying for real, laughing for real
(There really isn't anything else for us to give but many words of love)
Worrying for real, truly living
(Again, sending out this big love in a song)
That's why we have now, because you shine your light on our hearts

If the voices we exchange now won't disappear, then we'll swear this love fo r another 100 years

Because we want more smiles to blossom on your faces

It's always been in our hearts that's why we want to try to tell you

Thank you... "from now on as well, thank you"

We are standing here now, able to shine because you are all here

The five of us will be here, forever

Changing everything we experienced up until now into power

When we wrapped you up in our unchanging love, eternity appeared

Look, eternity was born for just you and me

La la la la

Love, love for you
