Two shadows that lined up unevenly on the pavement
They stretch out like they are getting closer together
Like they won't be washed away in the bustle of time
We held hands

In the middle of a crowd of rushing people
I became sad and called your name
The scent of the wind that passed by
A new season is coming look, the colors are changing

Your voice, that smile, all of it
Let me open my eyes and walk
Whatever past whatever tomorrow let's share them together
That's why I go to where you are

All the sadness reflected in your eyes
If I could take away all that pain
In the far past, the dreams you left behind
Let's make all of them come true

Although time always flows and something will change
We who obtained eternity
We'll become stronger than anyone
Very soon, a single future will come to this town

Because I've noticed that people love strongly
Everything I can see shines
That smile, all of it, I'll keep protecting it
And then I'll always be together with you

Your voice, that smile, all of it
Let me always return to being myself
Whatever past whatever tomorrow let's feel them together
And I'll go to where you are
And then I'll always be together with you
