Everyone experiences the same kind of regrets, but they don't want their dreams to end
So they try to change themselves and walk forward to the future

Embracing the pain, and changing it to kindness even though it nearly breaks your heart
You've already realized it but if you start walking, it'll come into sight

Tightly hold on with your warm hands seize the moment

I feel like my courage is fading, but while I've still got it, I'll go to you
And tell you these feelings zero to goal zero to goal
The nights I traveled alone on that sad path
The wind is carrying them away for me

Just as the passing time forgets each second as it moves forward
You've started to realize that it slowly becomes the future

When the fragments of memories you shut away back then grab hold of your heart and confuse you
Come back to this place someday rather than the present, let's look to the future

With a strong flexible beam of light, pierce through that zero

Whispering prayers, you're waiting for someone
With wings that never lose their way zero to goal zero to goal
The unwavering vow I made to the distant sky back then
It'll surely reach the future

Even if it's only a little bit of hope, it still signifies a miracle
The dreams that you'd always wished for
Without realizing, you resonated with them
And they were born inside of you

Yeah in this kind of situation, there's already no chance of winning
On a road without any lights
The faint glow of an emergency light brings hope and a new path to believe in
What I wrote in my notebook continues to lead the way

Don't stop rolling someone's crying
Don't stop rolling embracing the pain
Don't stop rolling a new path is opening
Don't stop rolling believe in myself
Don't stop rolling vowing to move forward to the future
The past shines on the what's to come

I feel like my courage is fading, but while I've still got it, I'll go to you
And tell you these feelings zero to goal zero to goal
Overcoming those depressing nights and moving on Without a doubt, the time will keep passing by

Whispering prayers, you're waiting for someone
With wings that never lose their way zero to goal zero to goal
The unwavering vow I made to the distant sky back then
It'll surely reach the future
