Looking up at the white moon, I take in a deep breath
The midsummer falling stars are watching over us

Standing in front of you who had your head hanging, I gently hold out my han d

Words won't be able to express my feelings, but I was strongly wishing that they would make it to you

On a cold night with wind, I'll hold you tenderly
Your smile gives me courage
I'll say it however many times
I want to protect you
For a future that the two of us will draw, starting now

We started walking and now we're tightly holding hands
Even if worrisome things come along, there are two of us I'll stay with you

On a freezing night with rain, I'll softly embrace you
I can't do anything else but that

I'll always think this
I want to protect you
To go towards a precious time with you

I'll always think this
I want to protect you
To go towards a precious time with you
