The rain pouring down comes closer and the smell of the city is suffocating
The shadows left on the asphalt seem different that usual

The ever-changing sky looks like it's reflecting my shaking heart
The world continues to turn quickly

A signal changing from red to green I'm in the middle of a journey that I ca n't turn back from
I want to go forward believing in tomorrow
Alone in this sudden evening shower, there are times when I stop and look ba ck
But I'm not worried about anything

From a window after the rain, you can see sunflowers in the evening
They are colored by the sunset and will keep waiting for the morning sun

Just what is important appears to get lost in time
But I'll carry the memories I won't give up as a I walk

Being colored by a vivid blue, the future paints a never-ending dream
Moistening my dry heart
In this time, I was confined, emotions were strongly etched into my heart
The sun is rising again

When I make it over this long slope, no matter what I see in the distance
I don't want to regret it and continue to shine a light on tomorrow

A signal changing from red to green I'm in the middle of a journey that I ca n't turn back from
I want to go forward believing in tomorrow
Run! Run! Reach out for your dream yell! Yell! To the limits of your voice
As we feel it in our heart
