I want to dye your disheveled lips rouge with lipstick
Wearing it so charmingly

Why don't you throw away those dull strategies right around here
Your arrogant gaze is challenging me but you're at a loss for words
(What kind of dream do you want to see?) don't turn your eyes away
(I want to get closer) your lips want it

Our heartbeats overlap, revealing our true instincts
We melt away into a sweet dizziness

In the room everyone comes in with their secrets
I'll moisten your thirsty heart
I want to dye your disheveled lips rouge with lipstick
In a trance we can't go back anymore

The everyday life that we'd tucked away kept appearing and disappearing
But that made it precious in it's own way and all the more beautiful
(I want to stay like this) embracing the pretty little flower
(I want to stay by your side forever) I wouldn't hold back even if you had t horns

Sweat at the nape of my neck
Until I burn up, I'll keep going even as sparks fly

In the room the thoughts and feelings that were jumbled in my head
Every time we made love, I shook free of them in the end
My fingertips gently trace your rouge lips
I want to steal everything about you away with me that's right, every last l ittle thing

As I caress your ear, I feel the heat radiating off it lessen a little Outside of my consciousness, the bathtub begins to overflow
Ah, at last, it's uncontrollable
Our true instincts are revealed

Where I rubbed your body, there's a red mark
Ah thinking that I might never be able to touch you like this again
With your hand on the cold door knob I can't stop this love song
Of fleeting dreams and the remains of my love

Our heartbeats overlap, revealing our true instincts
We melt away into a sweet dizziness

In the room everyone comes in with their secrets
I'll moisten your thirsty heart
I want to dye your disheveled lips rouge with lipstick
In a trance we can't go back anymore

I want to dye your disheveled lips rouge with lipstick
Wearing it so charmingly
My fingertips gently trace your rouge lips
We can't go back anymore
