Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa...

In the darkness, I heard your shaking voice
In a time that couldn't see or disappear, I was searching for something
Why is it that things I want seem to appear, but then they don't
On the way home from a part time job, that night that we arranged to meet up

Behind me on the bicycle, the warmth of your body is there in the dawn
Flying along the silent road, we won't lose the fight
The freedom of a shining morning for only the two of us

Raising both hands high, we were singing and supporting this earth
To reach the sky, soar higher oh yeah! (oh yeah!)
Even if we returned to that day one more time, we would have chosen the same path, right?
Become one and soar higher oh yeah! (oh yeah!) we're getting closer

In the school yard lit by morning's glow, I buried a letter to you
Getting off one station early and crossing over a pedestrian bridge
Even if I line up the amount of casual memories and painful ones
That day is faraway, that morning I made a promise with you

Since when did the boy understand the reason for his tears in his heart?
His crying face will blossom into a laugh as he keeps walking
At 9 am the town begins to stir two people riding by

To reach the sky, soar higher oh yeah! (oh yeah!)
Even if we returned to that day one more time, we would have chosen the same path, right?
Become one and soar higher oh yeah! (oh yeah!) we're getting closer

Behind me on the bicycle, the warmth of your body is there in the dawn
Flying along the silent road, we won't lose the fight
The freedom of a shining morning for only the two of us

Raising both hands high, we were singing and supporting this earth
To reach the sky, soar higher oh yeah! (oh yeah!)
Even if we returned to that day one more time, we would have chosen the same path, right?
Become one and soar higher oh yeah! (oh yeah!) we're getting closer
