There's a song that doesn't have a melody

How should I convey it to you?

There's a story without a moral

How should I tell it to you?

Safety world safety words
If it's the timing device, the limits already off
Running around our own steps mark the knife
Burst it open close to your ears back to the beat

From a place with nothing from a today that has nothing
Something can be born
From something without a meaning from something without a reason
A dream begins
I want to believe in it

Holding it tight holding it tight
If it breaks, I'll pick up the pieces
Making a circle making a circle
And flying high in the sky like a bird

There's a song without any steps
How should I teach it to you?
There's a reality that isn't real
How should I convey it to you?

Kick your heart, kiss your hurt
Hesitation is a fakin', fakin' shame
Wishes are a wakin', wakin' name
The world is a shakin', shakin' game

From an empty darkness from an empty distance
Something can be born
From something with no aim from something without a path
There are dreams that connect together
We should start walking

Go traveling go traveling
For that day that I'll meet you
We'll go searching together searching together
Even if we lose something, we should face forward

From a place with nothing from a today that has nothing
Something can be born from it
From something without a meaning from something without a reason
A dream begins
I want to believe in it

Holding it tight holding it tight
If it breaks, I'll pick up the pieces
Making a circle making a circle
And flying high in the sky like a bird

Go traveling go traveling
