If I think back to the warmth in your voice, I'm able to breath
Flowers bloomed and the colors of the sky before dawn changed quickly

So tell me why what lays beyond that light?
But in my dreams, I always want to touch you
Open your heart I feel love all around
It connects us with a gentle feeling

One day, we'll change the world and then, we'll be born again somewhere
Taking this era which we were given to the future entrusted to us

And once again tomorrow, we'll keep searching for something
As many times as it takes, we'll cast things aside it signals a beginning
Forever and ever, those memories echo in our hearts

We started running in the direction the wind was calling like we were chasin g the end of a memory
I think I understand the answer now

So let me high the petals flutter about beautifully
We stepped away from this place to go to a new season
Don't say good-bye connecting the lights, I'll go to see you
I'll make sure of your feelings

Something's never change, and if that's the case
Then we should be able to meet again someday
Even if you can't see the stars, their shining light will reach the future

And so, we gaze at the clouds silently floating by
As many times as it takes, we'll get stronger blossom in your full glory here and now
Your happiness and sadness put all those feelings into it

For instance, as long as there was a single irreplaceable person to us
Then we'd never be afraid to get hurt so we'll keep living

In this world, why is it that light and shadow draw so close together?
Our desires, our dreams, our loneliness, they're all decided by fate

One day, we'll change the world and then, we'll be born again somewhere
Taking this era which we were given to the future entrusted to us

And once again tomorrow, we'll keep searching for something
As many times as it takes, we'll cast things aside it signals a beginning
Forever and ever, those memories echo in our hearts
