(Let's go)

The sun puts out a showy grin
Conveying the feeling of the start of the season
The grateful boys seem like they want to dance now Ah... of course, this year is great too, isn't it?

If we gather at the usual place
Then let's start running look! they're already over there now
Our skin is warm like a slight fever
Being blown on by the wind look at the changing sky

(Let's go) get away from the city get wet with a splash run away from the wa ves on the beach
(It's so) good of a mood push out these feelings now say ho
(An overhead bridge) pass over it and run full out to the place where the su nlight shines (Definitely) we should run into each other this is a summer where passionate emotions bloom

Being blown on by the sea breeze, my heart is filled with the sound of the o cean
I'll change my destiny
Come on! let's start walking to tomorrow
Ride on the waves that break on the shore

You oh yeah! are the midsummer sun that burns my chest
Oh yeah! going to the world we drew because I'll flap my wings
So oh yeah! we were shaken by hopelessness let's overcome things like the pa st
The glimmer of summer will brighten me up

Look over your shoulder with your soft, long hair time and sense are separat ed
Every time you look back, you come back to my side ah repeating that action
A beach ball in slow motion the expression of the white clouds watching over
If you push them, they return like the waves a love carved out by the second hand of a clock

If the me that can't be honest leaves it up to the rhythm of summer
Things like anxiety disappear and I'll discover a great summer
Ah... no matter what, it's gotta be summer

Full in bloom, scattering sunflowers even summer passes by along with us
I want to smile and laugh before that sea breeze disappears

You oh yeah! are the midsummer sun that burns my chest
Oh yeah! going to the world we drew because I'll flap my wings
And then oh yeah! without turning around we should run in a daze
Because I'll shine in summer's glimmer
