A single light flickers
It disappears without healing the pain
I take your life forever
You take my life forever

One single tear falls lightly
It disappears without the emotions reaching your heart
I take your life forever
You take my life

Lying hidden in the unceasing time
(The traces of fallen tears)
(The color of a frozen tear)
Love is certainly like the pouring rain

Memories I can't go back to are spinning around

(The traces of fallen tears)
(The color of a frozen tear)
Everything has been taken to the end of this world

Sadness
No matter what kind of ending I draw, your heart is still a mystery
That is just like the darkness, the truth draws near
No matter what kind of world I draw, I couldn't see tomorrow
That is just like the lily that doesn't know impurity
But it's wish is still transparent

Alone with a flower dyed in white
Vowing nothing will change
I take your life forever
You take my life

Left in the voices that didn't reach you
(The traces of fallen tears)
(Two faces that weren't completely hidden)
Love was like a wind that gently blew through

Sleeping in an endless night
(The traces of fallen tears)
(Two faces that weren't completely hidden)
The pain left behind by the scars of a dream

Sadness
Even if a small amount of light is born, I feel grief again and again
That is just like the truth that disappears like a lie
Even if I open my wings for the last time, fate can't be changed
The lily is futile against making the pain go away
If in my dreams, I could have continued to love

Sadness
No matter what kind of ending I draw, your heart is still a mystery
That is just like the darkness, the truth draws near
No matter what kind of world I draw, I couldn't see tomorrow
That is just like the lily that doesn't know impurity
But it's wish is still transparent
