Arcane Roots

My old guns will race to start the war,
We fight to hear me out to find a place worth fighting for
Tomorrow is the distance
Again and again
And sorrow comes with more we share.

We can try this your way but it's not enough,
I can't see the picture that we'd taken at the start.
Tomorrow is the distance
Over again
And I can't bear the less we share

So we'll turn a page anew, until it's true and then you'll say

I will take care of your heart
I know you find it hard
And with a gentle kiss
We're at the start
We're at the start

I hope we'll find a way
I've held onto what you said
Now I know there's only this belief and trying
And the only distance I can see is quiet, because...

I will take care of your heart
Please know I find it hard
And now I know this
We're at the start

I will take care of your heart
Please know I find it hard
And with a gentle kiss
We're at the start

I try to be more like you are,
But I never was right from the start,
My dear.
