

If Nothing Breaks, Nothing Moves

Arcane Roots

Give me the song and I swear that I'll sing it
Like never before
All of my life I have watched this moment
Go right through the door
So don't you save a single breath
For me when I'm gone
Cause there will be no lungs inside my chest
And nothing inside of my heart

So I'm standing in front of you, to sing like I was the first
But I can't even look at you, and I barely remember the words
YEAH

So give me a moment, because I'm finding a way in the dark
The time we have stolen, kept us from falling
But now we're falling apart

So give me the song and I swear that I'll sing it
Like never before
All of my life I have watched this moment
Go right through the door
So don't you save a single breath
For me when I'm gone
Cause there will be no lungs inside my chest
And nothing inside of my heart
Nothing inside of my heart

Tied up to a stake, before another disaster
I'll roll and step and step, into my own fucking armour
YEAH

So I'm standing in front of you
To sing like I was the first
But I can't even look at you
And I barely remember the words
How many years will it take 'til we fade out
All of my fears have been staring at all my doubts
Nobody cares if you're standing or lying down
When all you had is taken away
RUN IT

So give me the song and I swear that I'll sing it
Like never before
All of my life I have watched this moment
Go right through the door
So don't you save a single breath
For me when I'm gone
Cause there will be no lungs inside my chest
And nothing inside of my heart
Nothing inside of my heart

All the dreams I had are clawing like a hand around my throat
There will be a crown upon my head
There will be a crown upon me
