

Out of Myself

Arco

out of myself again
hours flash by like trains wondering where i've been happily playing the game

you are my oldest friend you took this day and buried it so let's just call this love or as close as i can get turn on the light that blinds

open your eyes and forget

out of myself again
under an empty sky
no need to feel the pain no need to wonder why

you are my oldest friend
you took these dreams and buried them

so let's just call this love
or as close as i can get
turn on the light that blinds
open your eyes and forget

back in myself again fear comes down like rain