

I'm Wandering

Aretha Franklin

I'm wandering, been moving to and from just wandering, with no place to go, since I lost you, lost you, all I ever do is be wandering, 'til I wander back to you...
Oh, I'm wishing, been yearning for your kiss, oh and I've been missing, the warmth of your caress, since I lost you, I lost you, all I ever do is be wandering, wandering, wandering, wandering, I'll be wandering, 'til I wander back to you...
I look on every corner, down every dismal street, are you there?, are you there?, oh darling I repeat...
I visit all familiar places, there's no one there but me, where can you be?, where can you be?
oh darling, where can you be?...
Oh I'm praying, your touch for me has grown, oh and I'm saying, for before it's not been known I love you, I love you, and all I ever do is be wandering, crying, wandering, wandering I'll be wandering, 'til I wander, 'til I wander back to you yeah, oh yeah, I'm gonna be, I'm gonna be wandering 'til I wander back to you, yeah, yeah, oh wandering back to you!
