

Something Brighter

Arid

At the count of three
Who do you love, what will it be?
Tell me, at the count of four
Who do you trust, wolf at the door?

All I want is something brighter
All I want is something good
All I need is this desire
You loved me anyway you could

At the count of three
Open your eyes, what do you see?
Tell me, at the count of four
Who do you trust, wolf at the door?

All I want is something brighter
All I need is something true
All I want is this desire
To turn me out and on to you

All I want is something brighter
All I want is something good
All I need is this desire
To turn me out and on to you

Driven by the force of the wheel
I'm getting so loud I don't know what I should feel
You can never be sure and my heart is alright
And I feel like I should and I feel like I might Take it back to the start I've got to live my own life
Every corner I drift, have you lived in the night?

I need to find my own truth
I need to carry this weight, I need to get home to you

I need to move it around
Got to click to the beat and need to jump to the sound

You want to free your own heart, I got to finish this off
And take it back to the start

Everything that you've seen
Everyone that you know, and every place that you've been

All I want is something brighter
All I want is something good
All I need is this desire
To turn me out and on to you
