

WILDFIRE

Aries

It shouldn't be what it was
I'll give a leg or an arm for a whisper

I noticed that your lights out
I'm still standing, knocking at the door
Hopeless, where's your mind?
I've been worrying about you more

Oh, seen your text
(No one ever knows)
How to read your face

The flame that burnt you spread like a wildfire
Stain that grew so big, couldn't wash it away
When the stars always say, "Fuck you."
Might be hard to recognize
When you look past what's right beside you
I'll always love you

You're coping with dead eyes now
At your lowest, you still laugh it off
Made your bed, you can lie down
Stepping on the gas pedal 'cause heaven only lasts so long

Have you sealed your fate?
Do you feel the shame?

The flame that burnt you spread like a wildfire
Stain that grew so big, couldn't wash it away
When the stars always say, "Fuck you."
Might be hard to recognize
When you look past what's right beside you
I'll always love you

As we get older
The fear is all I know
Time has shown us
We're all alone

The party's over
We hate to see you go
What you crying over now?
