

Human Being

Arkells

Grow up, settle down
Big talk, little town
Waiting up for me like it's not my choice

Open up, every door
Internet, message board
Searching anywhere just to find my voice

I'm feeling free now
I'm feeling seen now
I wanna live in the space in between now

I'm through the ceiling
Don't need a reason
I'm just a fucking human being
I'm just a fucking human being

Stop, stop, stop it all
Hold tight, on a call
Waiting for a ride, I need a pick me up

Heaven came, in a mood
A little me, a little you
Pull me in tight 'til you've had enough

We're getting weird now
Nothing to fear now
I'm feeling brand new, like a pioneer now

What's the meaning?
Don't need a reason
I'm just a fucking human being
I'm just a fucking human being

Tell me that you're high or something
Show me how your lips can function
I wanna hear new songs, I wanna meet new people
And move on if it don't move the needle

Tell me that you're high or something
Show me how your lips can function
I wanna hear new songs, I wanna meet new people
And move on if it don't move the needle
And move on if it don't move the needle

Okay, okay, okay
Looking high, looking low
If you know, then you know
I was waiting for you 'til the bar closed up
Then you came, say my name
Walking back, in a daze
You're a queen short-cutting Bellwoods park

I'm saying things out loud
I would never tell ya
I'm saying things out loud

I'm saying things out loud
And you know what I mean

I'm just a fucking human being
I'm just a fucking human being
I'm just a fucking human being
