

Always Daylight

Armor for Sleep

Moonlight steals you away
And I watch you swim out alone
But the currents keep pulling you away
And I know you're out on your own
I'll always leave a candle lit for you
So you never lose your way home

How hard can you fight for your own life?

Hold your breath right now if you want to survive
Can you show me how bad you want to stay alive?
It doesn't hurt so bad if you close your eyes
After nighttime, there's always daylight

Moonlight steals you away
And I watch you drift out alone
Something keeps pulling you away
I know that you're drowning on your own

How hard can you fight for your own life?

Hold your breath right now if you want to survive
Can you show me how bad you want to stay alive?
It doesn't hurt so bad if you close your eyes
After nighttime, there's always daylight

Always daylight
Always daylight
There's always daylight

Hold your breath right now if you want to survive
Can you show me how bad you want to stay alive?
It doesn't hurt so bad if you close your eyes
After nighttime, there's always daylight
'Cause after nighttime, there's always daylight