

Switch off the Machine

Arno Carstens

It's what you do, what I don't do, why I love you
What I meant to say, I already miss you
We were the fools
And you were right
But for now just hear me
What I meant to say, I've always loved you anyway
These stupid fights, killed our islands of light
But for the last time, our souls ignite
My beacon, my silver and gold
I had to lose this beautiful baggage that I never chose
All hang me out, for a whole town to see
What a woman did for me
Switch off the machines
Lie next to me so I can breath you
Mainline your smile, bring forth a kiss, before I release you
I switched on the lights
I promised that I'd protect you
And now that it's done, its time to move on
It's what you do, what I don't do, why I love you
What I meant to say, I already miss you
Switch off the machines
Lie next to me so I can breath you
Mainline your smile, bring forth a kiss, before I release you
I switched on the lights
I promised that I'd protect you
And now that it's done, its time to move on
