

The Mourning Ghost

Arrayan Path

Tell me what remains when the moment comes to abandon
Is it all in vain? Do you wish to blame the will of God?
All your vivid passions, all your demons reigned
When one second you live and the other you fall

Dry those tears away, we are but a grain in endless sand
You just need to pray for those who remain in your life's plan
You will not be forgotten as long as you're in someone's thoughts
But the candle has burned so fast

The morning sun will never rise for the mourning ghost
It will unfold so long and peace for you mourning ghost
"I will forever run to you, my love
And I will save your soul"

When you change your life, when you try to find your lost passion
You just roll the dice hoping for the pain to be gone
In the morning hours, walking all night long
You were falling down, I was writing this song

The morning sun will never rise for the mourning ghost
It will unfold so long and peace for you mourning ghost
"I will forever run to you, my love
And I will save your soul"

The morning sun will never rise for the mourning ghost
It will unfold so long and peace for you mourning ghost
"I will forever run to you, my love
And I will save your soul
And I will save your soul"